gallery guide and maps

Let our Treasures become your treasures. These images are from Local Treasures artists, present and past. See back page for more information.

American Style Magazine called Albuquerque's art scene "eclectic and quirky" and recognized us as a top art destination year after year.

USA Today writes that Albuquerque is a city that deserves attention; calling us "multi-cultural before it was hip."

The Guardian says "If culture is on your US holiday agenda, Albuquerque has enough happening art, music, film and theatre venues to sate the hungriest of vultures."

OLD TOWN DISTRICT

Old Town is the heart of Albuquerque's rich, multicultural heritage. Settled in 1706, it remains a residential community as well as an attraction for visitors. When the original adobe church collapsed after the rainy summer of 1792, they rebuilt and in 1793 Albuquerque's oldest church, San Felipe de Neri, was completed. Nearby are museums, a zoo, botanical gardens, an aquarium and a cottonwood bosque along the Rio Grande. Enjoy our great climate outdoors and the comfort of fine dining and great art in our oldest neighborhood. (Map 2)

DOWNTOWN IN THE ROUTE 66 DISTRICT

When the railroad arrived in 1880, Downtown Albuquerque was born. On Central Avenue (old Route 66) you can visit the historic KiMO Theater (Pueblo Deco style built in 1926). The National Hispanic Cultural Center features a 4,000 sq. ft. fresco by New Mexico artist Frederico Vigil. Get immersed in Native American art and history at the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center. Then stir in a broad spectrum of live theater, public art and galleries from traditional to contemporary, and you begin to experience Albuquerque's multicultural personality. (Map 3)

NOB HILL IN THE ROUTE 66 DISTRICT

Neon signs glow and vintage motels still put out the vacancy sign on old Route 66 through Albuquerque (now Central Avenue). Travelers on Route 66 began arriving in 1926 and the mystique continues today. This is a pedestrian-friendly area that invites exploration of its predominantly locally-owned shops, eateries, brew pubs, nightspots and fine art galleries. With its historic buildings, abundant neon and casual style, Nob Hill is not only a place where locals frequent, but a popular spot for visitors as well. (Main map)

EAST MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Begin in the Village of Tijeras (7 miles east of Albuquerque off Interstate 40 on old Route 66). The historic village is rich in culture and history and home to Just Imagine Gallery where you will see reminders of Civil War history in New Mexico. Then head south on Hwy. 337 to Cedro, or north along Highway 14 on the Turquoise Trail National Scenic Byway to the mountain villages of Cedar Crest and San Antonito, taking in some great art along the way. The new East Mountain District now features a seasonal 1st Saturday ARTScrawl (June-Sept).

ARTSCRAWL

AABA has presented ARTScrawl, a self-guided gallery tour, in rotating neighborhoods every third Friday since 1990. In 2005, we added First Friday ARTScrawl, a citywide event, and in 2013 launched a summer only First Saturday ARTScrawl in the East Mountains. You can also schedule your own personal ARTScrawl any time, using our website to guide you.

LOCAL TREASURES

Each September since 2008, AABA has honored local artists who not only excel in the arts, but who give back to their communities. By sharing their time and passion, they give birth to the next generation of art lovers and artists. Cover images: (top) Jeannie Selmer (2011); (middle row, left to right) Luis Neri Zagal (2013), Michael Norviel (2012), Robert Medina Cook (2012); (bottom) B.C. Nowlin (2008).

SURFACE: EMERGING ARTISTS

AABA and The Harwood Art Center collaborate in an annual, open juried exhibition and professional development program for emerging artists. Artists working in all mediums of art and design are invited to apply.
